HUNDREDS ARE ARRESTED IN INDIAN RAIDS

Mammoth Salt Raid Tries Nerves of British Sergeants

Wadala, Bombay Presidency, India, May 19.—(UP)—Mahatma Gandhi's method of harassing the government of India, subverting authority, and attempting to arouse the nation to non-violent resistance to British rule was given as effective demonstration here yesterday when some 500 of his followers made a monster raid on the Wadala salt works.

The raid was the largest made in India since Gandhi, now in prison, began his passive resistance campaign for self-government. The volunteers, clad in Khaki-colored shorts and wearing grass epaulets with the words "national volunteers" on them, rushed into the works and seized handfuls and bathtubs of salt from heaps drying in the sun.

To Be Daily Affair.
National congress headquarters announced later in the day that 415 volunteers were arrested in connection with the raids and that seven were injured.

The raid caused a great excitement at national congress headquarters, drawing into its courtyard hundreds of Gandhi's followers, planning a new raid for today. It was said at the headquarters that 100 men would be sent to renew the raid each day this week, with a great mass meeting next Sunday.

The Wadala salt pans cover an area about a mile square, lying in a valley near the factory. The sub-urban consists of shallow depressions into which sea water is admitted from the nearby bay. Salt is obtained by the simple method of permitting this water to evaporate in the blazing sun.

The authorities assigned about 400 police, including some 50 British sergeants in white tropical uniforms in sun helmets, armed with revolvers. Possibly 40 of the native police were armed with rifles. The others, were native Bombay patrolmen from Decan, armed with wooden lathis, or big sticks. They wore short blue jackets, tight knee pants and quaint hats like flat, yellow pin-cushions.

Owing to the extent of the salt pans, the police were not able to place a tight cordon around the area. The volunteers, dividing into groups of 25 or so, chose points at which the police line was thinnest. Their method of raiding was to rush the line individually.

The police then would pursue the raiders, arresting them the minute they seized a fistful of salt.

This game went on throughout the forenoon as thousands of spectators and sympathizers, dressed in undyed homespun cloths and Gandhi peaked caps, crowded the hilltops. They excitedly yelled encouragement as a volunteer made a dash for the salt, cheering every sortie. They cheered in unison: "Gandhi Kai Jai!" (Long live Gandhi!). As the raiders evaded the police, grabbed some salt and submitted to arrest. The raiders were marched back to waiting police vans and started for jail.

Crowd is Delighted.
The Sunday throng from Bombay and vicinity out to watch the raid laughed with glee at the efforts of the perspiring, partly British sergeants running on the marshy salt pans in the blazing sun, sinking ankle-deep in the mud.

I saw one incident which particularly delighted the crowd. A dozen volunteers under arrest marched past a salt pile en route to the waiting police motor lorry. Suddenly, all simultaneously broke away from the two guards, ran to the pile and began grabbing handfuls of salt. The police, snatching at the quick hands of the Indians in distraction, were unable to stop them—while hundreds of native spectators danced about shrieking with laughter.

With the exception of one London correspondent, I was the only white western spectator. The curious crowd continually surrounded me many who could speak English, reciting India's woes and berating the government. Many demanded to know what America thinks of India's struggle.

Get Small Pay.
The spectators, mostly cotton mill workers, told me they receive from 8 to 12 annas (about 16 to 24 cents) wages a day for a 10-hour working day. They asked what American workmen received—and stared in amazement, incredulous at my reply.

Some Oddities In Wire News Today From Various Parts

SHOT WITHOUT GUN
Chicago, May 19.—(AP)—Frank Tuttle shot himself in the neck last night—without a gun.

He tells about it.
"I held a pistol cartridge in a spoon over a gas jet. I wanted to see if the heat would explode it." It did. He will recover.

THE KING'S HIGHWAY
Waukegan, Ill., May 19.—(AP)—Automobile owners who thought they had only city ordinance and state law to contend with when they left their cars on the street overnight have received warning.

Posters notifying them that parking on streets not only breaks municipal and Illinois statutes but violates common law have been delivered by order of State's Attorney A. V. Smith.

Too many collisions led to Col. Smith's action, it was announced. Garage men are happy but disclaim responsibility for the campaign, which is based on the ancient regulation that prohibits use of "the King's highway for a stable."

NO BASEBALL IN FRANCE
Fox Lake, Ill., May 19.—(UP)—Johnny Pershing Stanton, who "got left at the dock" in New York when his parents sailed for Europe last week, bent over a lawn mower today to earn $2.95, the cost of his long distance call to Chicago for aid.

Between rounds, Johnny revealed that he did not miss the Ile De France accidentally. He just couldn't bear the leave Rex, his dog and he had heard that they don't play baseball in France.

"So I hopped off the boat and ran," he said. "Pretty soon I called up Jake and Ruth (Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Larson with whom he lived after his mother got a divorce) and they got me back. I hear mother has instructed the Travelers' Aid society to put me on a boat going to France but I'm not going."

Johnny hoped to finish his $2.95 worth of moving today so he can get caught up on his baseball.

YOUNGEST COLLEGE HEAD
Pittsburgh, Pa., May 19.—(UP)—The honor of being "America's youngest college president" came today to the Rev. Robert N. Montgomery, who has accepted the presidency of Tarkio College, Tarkio, Mo. The new "youngest college president" celebrated his 30th birthday today.

The previous college president to hold the unusual distinction was Robert M. Hutchins, who became the head of the University of Chicago a year ago at the age of 30.

Dr. Montgomery, whose home is in Pittsburgh, is the son of Dr. John Knox Montgomery, who has been president of Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio, since 1904.

DIG HOLE IN WALL
Chicago, May 19.—(UP)—A bard of yeggs dug through a brick wall into the Leader department store on West Chicago Avenue some time during the week-end and looted the safe of $4,000.

By ascending via the fire escape to the roof of a one-story building next to the department store, the robber gained access to the building by picking a hole through the masonry, a job that took several hours. The hole once dug, the yeggs rifled the safe and escaped.

WRECKED FUNERAL CAR
Decatur, Ill., May 19.—(AP)—Hurry to Decatur to attend his grandfathers' funeral, Dale Booker, Sullivan, met the funeral procession five miles east of Decatur on route 121 Sunday afternoon, turned out to meet an oncoming car that was trying to pass the cortege, and skidded into the mourners car, almost killing his grandmother, Mrs. S. H. Booker of Dawson.

Mrs. Booker is in St. Mary's hospital, Decatur, at the point of death. Five others, including young Booker and Mrs. A. T. Ford of Dawson who was driving the second car behind the hearse, received minor injuries. William J. Pope, who was driving the car in which Mrs. Booker was riding, swore out a warrant charging young Booker with reckless driving.

CHECKING UP THE STRAGGLERS HERE FOR DIXON CENSUS

Census Enumerators Are Working On Names Turned In

Several "stragglers" who had not been found by census enumerators were being rounded up today to be included in the final count which will determine Dixon's official census. Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber was taking an active part in the campaign to bring the number up to as near 10,000 as is possible. The Dixon Chamber of Commerce was also carrying on a campaign and through this agency a large number of names, which had not been collected by the enumerators was turned over to Commissioner M. J. Gannon.

The work of locating those persons who had not been included in the census was to continue until the office of Commissioner Gannon closes this evening and every effort possible is being exerted to bring the number as close as possible to 10,000. Commissioner Gannon was out of the city today and the result of the drive thus far was out known and will be announced tomorrow.

NORTH SHORE GAINS
Chicago, May 19.—(AP)—Uptown is gaining at the expense of downtown.

Census figures made public today for the north shore district of Chicago, the first large section of the city to report complete, showed an advance of 20.42 percent in population since 1920, with the Rogers Park and Wilson Avenue sections contributing most of the gain.

The area bounded by the Chicago river on the west and south, reaching to the Evanston city limits and fronting on Lake Michigan, has an official population of 609,479 compared with 470,920 ten years ago, an increase of 138,559. Ralph Goodman, census supervisor, said a study of the district "indicates a decrease in population in the lower wards and a decided increase in the population of the outlying wards, especially in the Rogers Park and Wilson Avenue districts."

CAPITAL WANTS RECOUNT
Washington, May 19.—(AP)—Suggestions for a recount of the capital's population today followed the announcement by the Census Bureau that the 1930 total was 485,716, a gain of only eleven per cent over the 437,571 count ten years ago.

Compilers of the city directory recently estimated the population of the District of Columbia at 591,616.

Some residents have complained they were not enumerated and Dr. George C. Havenner of the Federation of Citizens Association, suggested by the Census Bureau that the 1930 total make another tabulation the first of next year.

J. Sterling Moran, supervisor, said the comparatively small increase was probably due to the fact that many persons who had their business in Washington were enabled through the use of the automobile to live in nearby Maryland or Virginia.

Aged Patient Dies At State Hospital

Miss Louise Fauth, aged 63, died suddenly in her ward at the Dixon state hospital last evening at 5:40, shortly after she had returned with other patients from the dining hall. She was stricken with a heart attack while sitting in a chair and expired almost immediately. An autopsy was conducted this morning preceding the inquest which was conducted by the coroner, Frank M. Banker at the Jones funeral home. The jury returned a verdict finding the death was due to a rupture of the heart muscle. The woman had been an inmate of state institutions since July 1897 and had been a patient at the Dixon state hospital since 1923. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow with interment in the institution burial ground.

Thousands Flee From China Bandit Troops

Hankow, China, May 19.—(UP)—Thousands of peasants are fleeing from bandits in the interior of Hupeh province, seeking shelter and protection here.

So desperate is the plight of the refugees that 40 women attempted to commit suicide by throwing themselves into the Han river. Several threw themselves on the railway tracks in front of trains and were killed.

The refugees are in a pitiable condition, having been without food and water for days.

NAB PAID BOMBER AS HE LIGHTS A FUSE IN DOORWAY

Confesses to Other Recent Bombings, Chicago Police Say

Chicago, May 19.—(AP)—In Frank R. Phillips, police believe they have found the answer to several of the city's recent bomb outrages.

They trapped Phillips early yesterday in the act of bombing a restaurant at 507 North Clark street. Acting on a tip, the officers lay in wait. The man placed the bomb in the restaurant doorway and ignited the fuse by pressing the lighted end of his cigar against it. Police rushed in, firing in the air. One of them trampled the sputtering fuse. The others captured Phillips.

The prisoner, police said today, has confessed two other bombings of recent weeks. For one of these bombings, he said, he received $100 for the other, $150. He was hired, he told officers, by the same man in each instance.

Phillips, who is 40 years old, said he learned bomb making during the war. Later he served a sentence in an Ohio penitentiary.

The state's attorney's office said Phillips worked alone, making his own bombs, soliciting business and placing the "pineapples" himself. The bomb which had been ignited when police arrested him yesterday was made of dynamite and was intended to blow up Gus Frangos' restaurant. Adjoining is the C. and O. Cafe, a cabaret in which were 50 people at the time the bomb was planted. Had it exploded, police said, many persons might have been killed or injured, so powerful, was the bomb.

The man who hired him, Phillips said, was known to him only as "The Greek."

Senator Wheeler Has Turned Against The "Noble Experiment"

Washington, May 19.—(UP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Dem., Mont., long considered a moderate dry, was on record today as convinced that prohibition as now enforced, is a failure.

"It is absurd to say," Wheeler told a dominantly dry audience at the Calvary Baptist church here last night, "that prohibition is enforced when one can go into any city, large or small, put his foot on the rail and order a drink."

After denouncing conditions under the present dry laws, Wheeler said "the people are turning from it (prohibition) in disgust because of widespread graft and corruption."

Another indication of Wheeler's discontent with prohibition came last week when he voted with a small senate minority in favor of the resumption of Senator Tydings, Dem., Md., to prevent the use of poison in government alcohol.

GRAF LANDED AT SEVILLE, FIRST LAP

Big Dirigible Makes 1500 Mile Trip to Spain Safely

Seville, Spain, May 19.—(AP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin landed here today at 5:40 P. M. (12:40 P. M. E. S. T.) completing the first lap of her flight to South America.

The giant aircraft was maneuvered to her mooring mast and made secure.

There were evidences of immediate preparations on board for the disembarkation of her passengers.

The craft took off from Friedrichshafen Sunday at 5:18 P. M. (11:18 A. M. E. S. T.) Her arrival here indicated a flight of about 24 hours for the approximately 1,500 miles she was estimated to have flown.

The dirigible increased her mileage by lingering over the northernmost African coast for a considerable time. In doing so she passed out of the view of observing for a total of about four hours during the flight.

The departure from Seville tomorrow will be attended by changes in her passenger list. She will disembark five passengers, according to present plans, and take on three.

Those known to be booked for the trans-equatorial voyage will be Mrs. Mary Pierce, the Prince of Austria, King Alfonso's cousin, and Lieutenant Emilio Herrera, Spanish aviation head.

Dr. Eekener directed the course of the craft over the city while the population filled the streets in greeting to the visitor of the skies.

The craft then circled over the airport, at which it arrived at 4:30 P. M. (11:50 A. M. E. S. T.)

From a considerable height the Zeppelin began encircling the field tower and later, all the time drawing nearer to her landing place at the mooring mast, finally making the contact.

TOURISTS' CARS CRASH HEAD ON THIS MORNING

Car Stalled on Pavement Causes Wreck Near Ashton Today

Two automobiles were badly damaged and the occupants of three cars narrowly escaped serious injury about 9 o'clock this morning on the Lincoln Highway about three miles east of Ashton in an unusual accident.

Mrs. Theodore E. Davey of Berkeley, Cal., who with her husband, was enroute to Rochester, N. Y., in a Ford sedan, sustained cuts and bruises about the legs and was taken to the office of an Ashton physician, where her injuries were dressed.

The Ford sedan in which Mr. and Mrs. Davey were passengers was practically demolished. A Plymouth sedan, driven by Joseph Wahman of Oldenburg, Ind., enroute to Alberta, Canada, which crashed head on into the Ford, was so badly damaged that it was hauled to a local garage for repairs.

A Ford sedan driven by C. A. Smith of Ashton was not damaged. Smith, is said to have experienced engine trouble and stopped his car on the paving. The Davey's were driving west and Wahman was coming west. Both pulled out to pass the stalled car and crashed head on. The force of the impact threw the Davey car off the paving against a wire fence and tore away the lower part of the motor. State Highway Officer Hal Roberts was summoned to the scene of the accident and conducted an investigation, also clearing the highway for traffic which soon became congested. None of the occupants of the cars suffered serious injury.

Hoodlum Feuds Are Blamed For Three Brooklyn Murders

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Three young men were found slain in Brooklyn today—two on a street corner and the third in a vacant lot.

Police found no link between the two cases, but attributed all three deaths to hoodlum feuds. Each of the three had been shot four times.

The man found dead in a vacant lot was identified from fingerprint records as Jack Valenti, 25, known to police but never convicted of any serious charge. The other two apparently shot in a motor car and their bodies thrown out, one on top of the other, had not been identified.

"CAT EYE" ANNIE'S LATEST ESCAPE IS DISCOVERED TODAY

Elusive Woman Burglar Walks Out Of Auburn Prison

Auburn, N. Y., May 19.—(AP)—"Cat Eye Annie"—Lillian McDowell—48, notorious burglar and one of the most elusive characters of the underworld when at liberty, escaped from the women's prison here during the night.

This was not the first time "Cat Eye" Annie has surmounted seemingly impossible obstacles to gain her freedom from iron bars and strong walls. Received at the prison October 28, 1925, from Buffalo, she escaped on May 10, 1926 from a solitary cell in which incorrigible prisoners were confined. She was sentenced in October of that year to a ten year term for grand larceny, imposed the day after she made a sensational escape from the Buffalo jail and had been captured because she sprained her ankle.

In her escape last night, she cut the wood around the lock in her cell door, on the second floor. From there she went down the corridor to the reception hall on the first floor. There a light top coat and a fedora hat belonging to Warden Frank L. Heacock was taken by her. Donning this, and thus masquerading as a man, she fled. Prison matrons found on the table this morning a bundle of knotted blanket strips, which "Cat Eye" apparently left believing them unnecessary in her flight over the wall.

Warden Heacock said that "it was almost humanly impossible for anyone to scale the wall because there was a man at the front gate and at every wall corner and searchlights played upon the entire enclosure. The prisoner was not missed until 5:30 A. M.

The woman was known as "Cat Eye" because of a peculiar cast in one eye.

WALTONIANS TO MAKE IT TOUGH ON CROWS HERE

Sponsor County Wide Crow Hunt for a Week—Plans Known Soon

The Dixon Chapter of the Izaak Walton League will sponsor a county wide crow hunt to last for one week. President Louis Knick announced today. State game inspectors will co-operate with the chapter in the carrying on of the campaign and it is expected that farmers will also take an active part in the hunt. Plans which will govern the hunt will be announced within a few days.

It is expected to conduct the hunt in such a manner that each township will be divided into a unit and prizes will be offered for the largest number of crows which will be turned in. Only the heads will be necessary in accounting for the number of crows shot.

At this time of the year when corn planting is at its height, crows are the most destructive to crops. The young crows are of sufficient size to venture forth from their nests and it is believed that a great deal of good can be accomplished by destroying a large number of the destructive birds.

Deny Lie Detector Evidence; Suspects Declare Innocence

Des Moines, May 19.—(UP)—Branded guilty by a "lie detector," two suspects in the attack and murder of 9-year-old Evelyn Lee continued to deny the crime today.

For hours Carl McCune and Elmer Gibson faced intensive questioning with the strange machine strapped to their arms. They answered questions but refused to change the answers when the needle wavered to indicate, according to Leonard Keeler, the inventor, that their answers were untrue.

Gibson, faced with the mute accusation of the jagged line, confessed he had not told the truth about a drinking party, and the needle remained steady as he spoke. McCune, faced with the same evidence, refused to change his answer.

WINDS-FLOODS TAKE A HEAVY TOLL OF LIFE

Arkansas and Texas Negroes Killed in Week-end Disaster

BY UNITED PRESS
Tornadoes and floods loosed their savagery on the southwest over the week-end and left in their wake today at least twenty one dead and many injured and homeless.

Southeastern Arkansas and northern Texas bore the brunt of the high winds. All the dead were Negroes.

Hospitals in Helena, Ark., were filled with injured negroes from the little plantation town of Lambrook, where a twister struck Sunday and cut a path of destruction of 300 yards wide and extending several miles.

Three of the dead were killed in Texas, where the second destructive tornado within two weeks demolished homes and buildings, leveled trees and destroyed crops.

Streams were still rising today in portions of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas. The Red river, fed by torrential rains, drove thousands from their homes in lowland sectors. Many persons trapped in their flooded homes were carried to safety in boats.

Helena, Ark., May 19.—(UP)—Scores of negro shanties, ramshackle at best, lay in ruins in three plantation communities on the river bottoms near here today.

Many of their occupants, who yesterday sang happily as they trudged through their daily duties, were dead or in hospitals—victims of a vicious tornado which swept this section Sunday.

Hospitals here were filled to overflowing with scores of injured negroes, brought from Elaine, Wabash, and Lambrook, little cotton planting communities along the Mississippi River.

Sixteen persons all Negroes, were killed. Twelve of these were at Lambrook—part of the plantation property of R. B. Lambert of the Lambert pharmaceutical company of St. Louis. Two deaths each were reported at Wabash and Elaine.

Rescue workers, rushing into the stricken area, brought out more than three score injured, 20 of whom were said to be in critical condition.

Dallas, Tex., May 19.—(UP)—Cyclonic winds, torrential rains and unseasonable cold weather brought suffering to many Texas communities over the week-end.

Twelve communities lay in partial ruins today from a storm which tore a path of destruction through three counties early Sunday. Three negroes were known to have been killed, and more than a score were injured.

The deaths brought the toll from tornadoes in Texas in the last fortnight to 71.

The storm struck hardest at Ovilla, in Ellis county, south of here. Buildings were leveled, trees uprooted and crops ruined by the twister and the downpour of rain which followed. Care of the homeless was hampered by the cold weather.

Property damage estimated at $40,000 was done at Somerville, Tenn. Several business buildings were demolished.

Texarkana, Tex., May 19.—(UP)—Thousands of lowland dwellers sought refuge in the hills of Texas and Arkansas today as rising rivers and streams, fed by torrential rains, swept away their homes and inundated agricultural lands.

Conviction carries with it a maximum of ten years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. Capone's brother Ralph was convicted recently on the same charge.

The newspaper says Capone has protected his sources of income so carefully that federal agents, until recently, have been unable to learn anything definite concerning it. In all his years in Chicago, federal authorities said, Capone has never filed an income tax return.

Now, the newspaper adds, the government is prepared to show that large sums of money have been sent Capone from Chicago and Cicero, Ill.
and that these monies reached him.

COMMITTEE GIVES
QUICK O. K. TODAY
TO OWEN ROBERTS

Expect Early Approval by Senate For Supreme Court Nominee

Washington, May 19—(AP)—A favorable report on the nomination of Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, to the Supreme Court was ordered today by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The vote was unanimous.
Republican leaders planned to call the nomination up on the Senate this afternoon or tomorrow and quick approval was expected.

The judiciary committee voted after a sub-committee, which considered the nomination, had unanimously favored confirmation.

The sub-committee was composed of Senators Borah, Republican
Idaho; Overman, Democrat, North Carolina; and Herbert, Republican, Rhode Island.

No protests had been filed against Roberts and the committee acted after brief discussion.

A request had been received from Normal Thomas, Socialist leader, for the committee to investigate the opinions of Roberts on public utilities and social legislation, but it was decided to take no action.

Roberts was nominated by President Hoover after the Senate rejected Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina.

Airplane Damaged
In Landing Today
At Sterling Field

(Telegraph Special Service)
Sterling, May 19—Mr. and Mrs.
Harold Powell of Chicago, passengers in an airplane piloted by J. B.
Snyder, also of Chicago, were considerably shaken up this morning at the Sterling airport as the plane landed. Flying less than 500 feet, the plane dropped to land at the field. The pilot over estimated the distance and the plane struck the ground in a field adjoining the airport and as it came to a stop, nosed slightly, damaging the propeller.

None of the occupants were injured.
The plane left Des Moines yesterday for Chicago and on account of poor visibility and heavy rain was forced down at Cedar Rapids, from where it took off this morning for Chicago.

The plane was removed to the airport to await the arrival of a new propeller, which was all that was damaged.

Yesterday was silver-gray. Today is blue and gold.
The lakes and mountains yesterday.
Were lovely in a solemn way.
The beauty on the hills today is more than thought can hold.

Yesterday was silver-gray. Today is gold and blue.
The ripples on the lake are gay.
Like boys and girls come out to play.
The stately hills are young today.
And all the world is new.

EXTEND THE CITY LIMITS.

Dixon will miss being rated as a "city" of 10,000 or over by only a few score of people, all because our city has long outgrown the old city limit lines. There are about 15,000 people living here and about 5,000 of them live just beyond the legal limits of the city and therefore cannot be counted as residents of Dixon in the government census.

It is a distinct handicap that Dixon's true population cannot be credited to the city. We can overcome the trouble very easily by expanding the city limits to take in at least the heavily populated areas that surround the town. The people who live in these areas should be glad to vote to come inside the city limits because they would get fire and police protection, lighted streets, etc., and since they are now enjoying a great many of the advantages of living in the city they should want to have a vote in the city elections and assume all of the responsibilities of full fledged citizens.

Dixon must not let another ten years and another census come around without making this change.

THE ILLITERATE VOTER.

Frank J. Loesch, famed as chairman of the Chicago Crime Commission, tells Chattanooga University's Institute of Justice that illiterate voters must be disfranchised, even at the cost of revising every state constitution, if a social revolution is to be avoided.

Mr. Loesch has studied crime conditions about as thoroughly as any man in the country, and is entitled to consideration when he speaks. No one has had a closer view of the trouble that is bred by the alliance between crime and politics. You may disagree with his conclusions, but you cannot deny that he knows what he is talking about.

Organized crime, says Mr. Loesch, is directly traceable to the relationships which the underworld is able to build up with unscrupulous politicians. These politicians have influence from top to bottom of the law enforcement machine—from members of the legislature, and judges, down to the policeman on the beat.

The underworld, therefore, has things its own way because its political friends can pull strings for it. And the politicians keep themselves in office by manipulating great masses of illiterate or semi-illiterate voters, who vote blindly, as they are told, but whose votes count for just as much as the votes of ministers, university presidents or bankers.

So, says Mr. Loesch: "The illiterate voters must be disfranchised, after a reasonable time is given to qualify the voter, and the right to vote given to men and women only who intelligently use the English language."

Without denying that crime condition are rapidly getting unendurable, and without denying Mr. Loesch's knowledge of the facts, it is quite possible to disagree with the rather sweeping conclusion.

Unfortunately, the mere ability to read and write does not guarantee that a man is going to vote intelligently. A dumbbell who can read may be even more dangerous than one who cannot, for he can pore over the propaganda emitted by the unscrupulous. It might be desirable to limit the vote to those who can vote intelligently; but how on earth are you ever going to succeed in drawing that line? And how many of us would be able to go to the ballot box if you did?

Our democracy has its faults, beyond a doubt. The demagogue and the rascal have always been able to get votes, and very likely they always will. But the history of the nation shows that a real leader—a Lincoln, a Roosevelt—does not get ignored. No man can make a greater mistake than to underestimate the American capacity for following a genuine statesman.

There are plenty of defects at the bottom of the social structure. But there hasn't been any too much good leadership in the last decade, either.

Secretary Hyde says that the farmer suffers because Americans eat less than did their fathers. Well, their fathers could take an appetizer occasionally.

Chicago bandits should be given credit for suppressing at least one racket. They held up a jazz orchestra the other day and swiped all the instruments.

Judging from training camp news it seems that the contestants for the heavyweight championship have developed good paunches.

A missionary says that America is corrupting India with cigarettes and films. Laying down a sort of smoke screen.

Many will regard Gandhi's arrest merely as a pinch of salt.

Just at a time when prize fighters are coming as large as mastodons, Jack Dempsey announces he will go to Africa to hunt big game.

The mothers present were: Meadames Vogler, Watkins, Thomas, Kersten and Krug. Each of the fifteen members of the class has now demonstrated her progress in the art of cooking to her mother and much credit for the splendid manner in which the food was prepared and served is due to their instructor, Miss Oral Turner.

Mrs. Charles Kersten has recently submitted to the removal of a small tumor from her right eye by Dr. Clifford Smith of DeKalb.

Mrs. Danekas, living nine miles south of town has been under the doctor's care with an infected hand. Miss Ethel Sanford closed her school at Lighthouse with a picnic the past week. This concludes two years of work at the Lighthouse district for Miss Sanford who will relocate Mt. Morris college next fall.

Local crop conditions are as good as this community has seen for several years past. Oats are in good condition, an even stand and good color. An increased acreage of corn has made a brisk demand for seed corn which has exceeded the supply due in some instances to poor keeping qualities of the seed. However, germinating qualities have been good and a good stand has resulted. As to the damage done by the light frost of Friday evening, as yet it is undetermined.

Pasture and hay lands are in excellent condition and the local demand for commercial fertilizer is greater than at any previous time. J. M. Bergeson reports the sale of 8 carloads of fertilizer, which amount is twice his best previous spring sale.

Asparagus fields have been producing abundantly but past few days of cool nights has reduced the production which has the advantage of bolstering the market which was sagging under the increased output.

Ashton Chapter O. E. S. will hold their regular meeting May 20 at the hall. Refreshments will be served by the May committee.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mosteller of Irving Park will visit with Mr. Mosteller's mother, Mrs. R. Y. Tilton, the coming week while George enjoys a vacation from the main Chicago P. O.

Miss Florence Ventler closed her term of school at the Saunders district the past week with a picnic at which the parents were invited. Graduates of the school were Kenneth Mail, Elizabeth Jones, Claude Haenitsch, Howard Sutton, Helen Vogel had the distinction of perfect attendance throughout the year.

A Ford car in rounding the corner known at Vorty's corner, north of Ashton, rolled over and was wrecked Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Attig and John Killmer have been constructing a rock garden on their lawn, the Dixon Floral Company supervising the work. As yet the garden is uncompleted but promises to be a fine example of rock garden and a most beautiful addition to a fine lawn.

Miss Oral Turner, instructor in home economics at the high school, was a week end guest of her parents at Urbana, her sister driving to Ashton on Friday to accompany her home.

In dress it's Distinction

in a cigarette it's Taste

It's THE UNUSUAL that distinguishes a gown. Again, it's the unusual that sets Chesterfield apart.

STYLE in a gown, "chic" in a hat—and in a Chesterfield, Taste!

TASTE IS THE REAL REASON for Chesterfield's enduring popularity... the better taste of choice tobaccos, mild and ripe, blended and cross-blended to a rich delicacy of flavor, unique in a cigarette—in every sense of the word... "TASTE above everything".

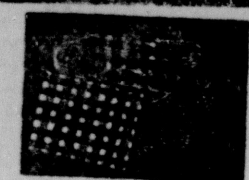

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Baseball Gossip

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Brooklyn's baseball fans are brimming over with hope for their first National League pennant in ten years. The Robins won the title in 1920 and since then they have spent most of their time in the second division. But they are right up in this year's close race, holding first place today as a result of victories in yesterday's double header against the Phillies.

The leading teams are so closely bunched that Pittsburgh, in fifth place, is only one full game behind the Robins. While Brooklyn was defeating the Phillies yesterday, 3 to 0 and 7 to 5, the New York Giants were dividing one double header with the Boston Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs were splitting another to line up in order behind the Robins.

The Braves captured the first game from New York, 4 to 1, as old Tom Zachary, until recently with the New York Yankees, made his debut by making nine Giant hits all most useless while Boston made the most of five off Walker and Fitzsimmons. The Giants won the second game 3 to 2, in eleven innings. Travis Jackson had to drop out of the Giant lineup because of mumps, the disease which already has laid Wally Rottger low.

The Cubs drove out 16 hits, including Hack Wilson's tenth and eleventh home runs, to stop the St. Louis winning streak at nine games. The Cubs won the first game 9-6, the Cardinals took the second 8 to 2.

Ervin Brame gave Pittsburgh a 2 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Besides pitching a fine game, he scored both Pirate runs, one on a homer, Benny Frey, who opposed him, met his first defeat in five games. "Jumbo" Jim Elliott played the leading role in Brooklyn's first victory, holding the Phillies to five hits, while a five run attack in the third inning decided the second game.

Three American League games produced no changes in the standing. The St. Louis-Detroit contest was rained out.

The Philadelphia Athletics did the most, with the least in the hit line, making three blows off Lloyd Brown good for a 1 to 0 victory. Mose Grove allowed five hits and fanned eight. It was the first Athletic victory over the Senators since April 19, Washington having won six straight.

Cleveland and Chicago engaged in another close battle with Mel Harder of Cleveland opposing Dutch Henry. It was a draw for six innings, but the Indians found Henry for two runs in the seventh and got one more off his successor, Hal McKinn, to win 7 to 4.

The New York Yankees did the heavy hitting for the American League. They pounded three Boston pitchers for 13 hits and an 11 to 0 victory while George Piggas held the Red Sox to three safe

Ex-Cadet Cagle, and the Reason He Quit the Army

Now you see why Cadet Christian (Red) Keener Cagle, All-American football star, has had to quit West Point. He is pictured here with the wife whom he secretly married two years ago in defiance of the military academy's regulations. She is the former Miss Marion Haille of New Orleans, a beauty school sweetheart. Cagle resigned, a month before he was to have been graduated, following disclosure of the marriage.

THE CALL OF THE OUTDOORS

HAZARDS OF THE TROUT

The open season for capturing trout is now in vogue in every state where the wily wizards of the stream hold forth. Foremost in the hearts of all conservationists is the protection of these beautiful creatures of the spring-fed waters. While the major means of keeping our brooks well stocked is through the activities of our state and Federal fish hatcheries, we must not overlook the amount of harm done by the fellow who disregards the local fish laws and extends little, if any, appreciation of the laws of nature.

Many trout streams which have been noted for their excellent trout-productive qualities in the past have been almost ruined by law violators. The vast number of trout that are destroyed by the netter, fish hog, spearer and general fish law violator cuts deeply into the present supply of trout. Until this fellow is eliminated it will be an uphill battle for existence by the trout in many streams they inhabit.

One of the teachings of the Izaak Walton League of America is the practice of sportsmanship and consideration of nature when angling. Hundreds of fish and game laws are violated every year by the people who are ignorant of the necessity of conservation. A nation-wide education program to encourage appreciation of America's outdoor resources was sponsored with the inauguration of the League eight years ago. That this great program has been effective and is helping to bring about a better understanding of the necessity to conserve and replace that which has been taken away from nature is evident by the ever lessening of arrests for fish law violations.

Hundreds of trout streams are being rebuilt and restocked each year through the activities of the Izaak Walton League, and no doubt, this important program will save for all time the clear, crystal waters and the sport of trout fishing.

Is the Robot Fooling YOU?

The Paris correspondent of "VARIETY" reports: "The music-wise Continentals object violently to mechanical music (in the theatre)."

WHAT, then, if Europeans thus prove their "music-wisdom," are we North Americans supposed to be, that we are asked to accept mechanical music only—in the theatre? Music—stupid, perhaps?

Well, at least 2,000,000 theatre patrons have rejected that characterization by joining the Music Defense League. They mean that they want Real Music, not Canned Music exclusively, in the theatre.

If you value the Art of Music, you too, should be numbered among the "music-wise." Just sign and mail the coupon at the left.

In The Interests of Lower Funeral Prices

The cost of funerals has long been a serious consideration among the various associations of funeral directors. Not until recently, however, has any practical solution to the problem been offered to the profession.

Now one of the great national organizations, The Federated Funeral Directors of America, has enabled its members to reduce prices materially. This has been effected by concentrating certain very important items of overhead for its many members into one national office, and relieving individual members of much business detail.

The savings thus effected are passed on, by the undersigned firm, to those served.

GALLANT FOX AND SANDE MAKE FINE RACE COMBINATION

Sensational Record—Favorite Now For The Belmont, Last Big Classic

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor
New York, May 19.—(AP)—Horsemen are reluctant to rush in prematurely with the laurel wreaths of greatness. They prefer to let time and the records adjust these matters. Today, however, they readily concede that Gallant Fox, the thoroughbred around whose neck the rose wreath of Kentucky derby triumph was hung Saturday, and his rider, the equally gallant Earl Sande, rank as the most sensational if not the greatest winning combination since Man O' War and Clarence Kummer were unbeatable ten years ago in three-year-old competition.

The winner, in succession, of the $10,000 Wood Memorial, $55,000 Preakness and $60,000 Derby, has developed unquenchable habits as a three-year-old though this big black son of Sir Galahad Third was just fair to middlin' as a juvenile.

At the rate Sande has been piloting William Woodward's colt through the spring campaign, Gallant Fox has a royal chance to capture the third of the big three-year-old classics the Belmont, June 7, and boost his total money-winnings beyond the $200,000 mark.

The Belmont probably will be Gallant Fox's next engagement with Gallant Knight, the Audley Farm's Derby place-winner, offered another chance to take up the pursuit. Unless it is H. P. Whitney's Whichone, no other rival for Gallant Fox seems in sight.

Crack Brigade was only three-quarters of a length behind Gallant Fox in the Preakness but after a briefly sustained challenge finished sixth and one-half lengths back in the 86th running of the Kentucky classic.

Up to Saturday's race, Gallant Fox had never been tested in the rain or anything like heavy going. Before hand horsemen freely predicted that rain would abruptly check Gallant Fox's winning streak. Well, it rained more or less steadily at Churchill Downs for two hours prior to the Derby. It was raining heavily throughout the race. It was not sufficient to slow up the track but facing supposedly adverse conditions Gallant Fox galloped away from the rest of the field. Tannery, the weather horse, wound up eighth in a field of fifteen.

Popular fancy to an extraordinary degree has been caught by this combination of Gallant Fox—the only horse since Sir Barton in 1919 to win the Preakness and Derby—and Earl Sande, who now has moved to the top with his third Derby victory, in a tie with Ike Murphy, triple-winner in 1884, 1890, 1891.

Not since 1923 when he rode Zev to spectacular victories in the Derby and in the $100,000 international race against Papyrus at Belmont Park, has Sande had the public acclaim that greeted him at Churchill Downs, where the Earl of Derby himself was among those to congratulate the winner.

Sande's dramatic career has seen him a trifle apart from the rest of the riders. He is back on top now after being nearly killed in an accident at Saratoga after a whirl as trainer-owner after being disbarred for rough riding in Maryland and reinstated.

YALE WINS MEET

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

In Copenhagen all the bunch found quite a pretty place for lunch. A very pretty waitress served the food that they all ate. She told the Tinies they would find folks around the town were kind. "They'll treat you very nice," she said. And Scouty cried, "That's great!"

In just a little while, when they were through, one Tiny said, "Why stay in here? Let's walk around a bit and see what we can see. They found a playground right nearby. The youngsters there made Clowny sigh. "Oh, my," he said. "They're full of fun. That quite appeals to me."

"I'm going to start a game of tag. Of course I do not like to brag, but I'll just bet that I can run the fastest of the bunch." The playground tots began to grin and then they said that they'd join in. Soon Clowny found his place to race was not so good a bunch.

One little youngster, built real thin, made up his mind that he would win. And, sure enough, he shortly left poor Clowny far behind. This made the Tinies laugh out loud. Now, Clowny wasn't quite so proud. Said he, "On let's quit racing now. Some other games we'll find."

But then the Travel Man said, "No! We won't have time 'cause we must go. I'm going to take you to a place that you will think is great. Now, don't ask questions. Follow me and some fine horses you will see." "Oh, I love horses," Scouty cried. "And I can hardly wait."

So, to the horse show they all went and several pleasant hours were spent. "I've never seen so many pretty horses," Coppy cried. "It seems, no matter what their size, each one is worthy of a prize. I'd like to own most any one so I could take a ride."

Wherever you go Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

... the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency...join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

"It serves him right," we say when the filthy spitter is caught in the act. For spitting is an outrage against public decency. And yet, thousands continue to smoke cigars rolled by dirty, yellowed fingers that tip the ends in spit! For more than half of all cigars made in this country are still made by hand, and therefore subject to the risk of spit!

Certified Cremo protects you against this abomination! Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit! Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Your physician has in mind a cigar like Certified Cremo when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Crush-proof...immaculate...foil-wrapped... Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly was thinking of when he said: "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

Eton Is a Trim Little 5-Room House With Well Planned Floor Arrangement

The Eton is an attractive little home of five rooms and bath. It is a very good example of care that enters into the design and layout of a small home.

Its trim, clean appearance reflects good taste and breeding. The attractive lawn and well placed shrubbery all add to the ensemble. Within are a series of rooms conveniently arranged to meet the needs of the family. Comfort has not been sacrificed for decorative effects.

For the Average Family

This is a home that the average family can build, knowing that they are keeping safely within their means. The cost is not excessive, far less, in fact, than the first estimate would place it. It can be built by a family whose rent bill is in the neighborhood of $60 monthly, and who have already purchased the lot.

Like other houses shown on this page, the Eton has been constructed and is actually in service. It has stood the severe test of occupancy. Having proven itself by use, it is offered as a home worthy of consideration by the family intending to build.

The foundations of the Eton are cement blocks with cement areaways off each of the steel basement windows. The siding is wood with mitered corners. The roofing is asbestos shingles, which are fireproof and permanent. In many cities the use of fire resisting roofing material is enforced by ordinances. Asbestos shingles with their var-colored appearance and fire-resisting qualities are often chosen because they have both utility and color harmony.

Seen from the street this residence is effective with its well placed windows and doors, the masses on one side of the broad chimney that divides the front elevation correctly balancing with those on the other.

The chimney itself is built of common brick surmounted by a double chimney pot. A rose ladder at the base breaks the bareness of the brick surface and softens the lines.

To the extreme left is an arched French double door opening into a brick terrace. At the right a concrete walk leads to the front entrance, an attractive little stoop of the colonial motif. The broad front door is paneled containing plate glass lights.

Interior Features

Within the attractive front entrance, lies a reception hall approximately eight feet square. A staircase leads to the floor above from the hall. A closet handy placed beside the stairs is large enough to hold the umbrellas, overcoats, rubbers and other articles that normally are stored in a hall closet.

To the left is the living room, with its handsome brick fireplace. This fireplace is equipped to burn logs. The mantel piece is broad enough to hold a vase or other ornament, but its not unwieldy in appearance. On either side are wall brackets with shaded electric lights.

The lighting fixtures of the living room are modern. The chandelier hanging from the ceiling may be used to light the room should the occasion require central lighting. Six side wall brackets are another source of light while three electrical outlets in the cupboard provide means for using floor lamps.

Enclosed Sun Room

Beyond the living room is the sun room, equipped with an abundance of windows so that in the summer these may be thrown open to catch the breeze, while in winter the room may still be a bright, cheerful lounging place, yet comfortable because of its heating arrangements.

If it is desired to make this sun room entirely separate from the living room, French doors may be used between the two. Otherwise the dividing wall may be used for the location of bookcase as suggested in the floor plans.

The sun room is one of the most attractive centers of the home life, and its bright airy interior will lure the family here during their leisure hours.

Practical Arrangements

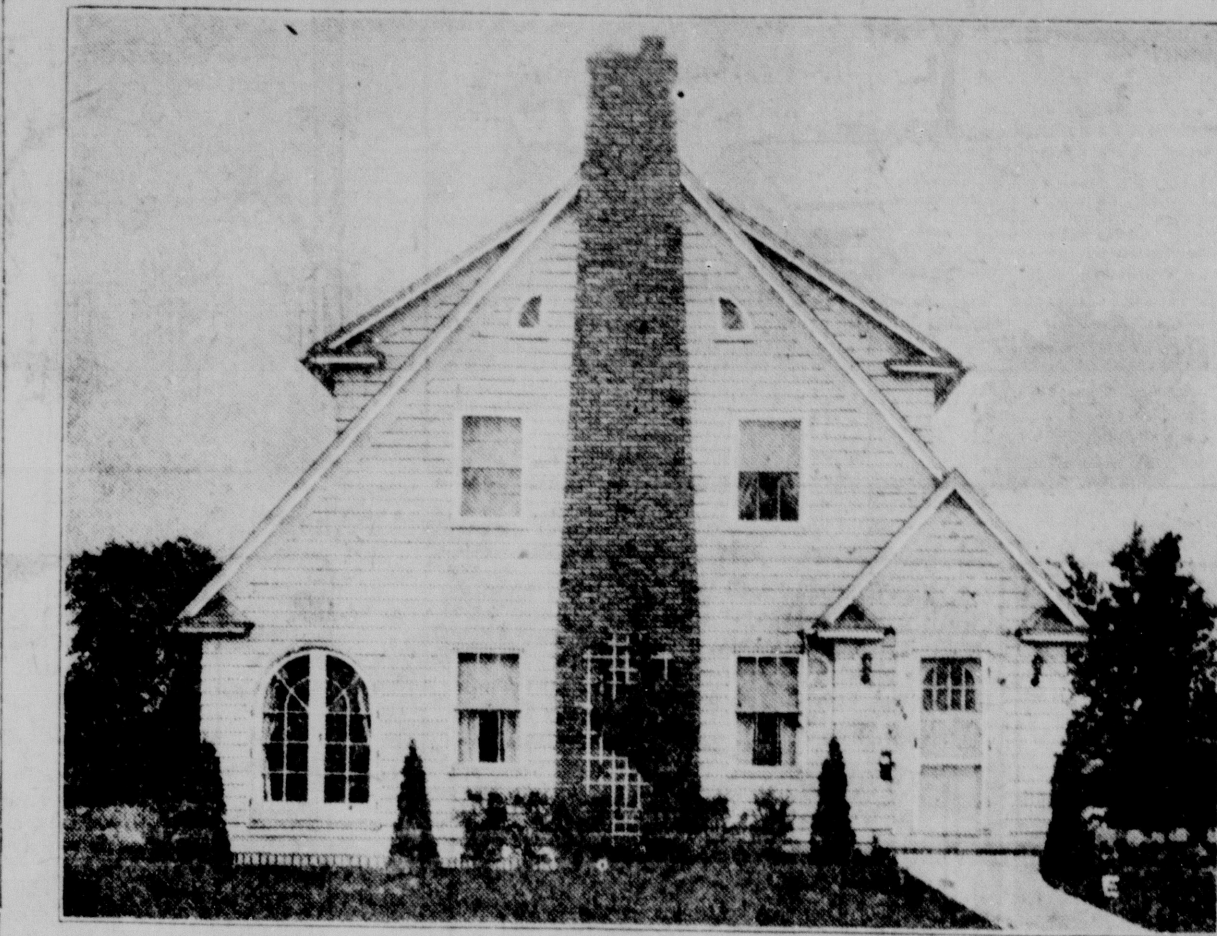

To the rear of the living room lie the dining room and kitchen. The dining room occupies one corner of the house. With its windows facing in two directions, it is assured of cooling breezes in summer and plenty of light while the meals are being eaten.

The kitchen is approached through a swinging door. This room is not large, but it is well arranged. All the tools of the housewife are within a step or two. At one side of the room under a window is the sink of white enamel with a swing faucet delivering both hot and cold water. The drip-board is of the same material. An ice box with outside ice stands in the corner near the entry way. Opposite is the gas range with a wall light over it. The usual hanging electric light is in the center of the room.

The service entry has doors leading to the kitchen and living room. Off the entry is a closet where the housewife can store the brooms, mops, vacuum sweeper and other conveniences of the household. From here, too, a stairs leads to the basement.

Large Master's Chamber

Off the small hall at the top of the stairs leading to the second floor is the master's chamber, a large room, twenty feet long by twelve wide. Two doublehung windows across the front and a pair of outwinging casement windows at the side give cross ventilation, which is needed on hot summer mer nights when often the faintest breeze is welcome.

The second chamber on this floor is twelve by thirteen feet, a convenient size. Off each room is a closet, each lighted by electricity. The use of electric lights in the closets is one of the many touches that make the Eton stand out from the average house.

The bath is but a step from the two chambers. It is equipped with a built-in tub. Two electric lights, situated on each side of the medicine cabinet over the wash bowl, light the room. The location is effective for good lighting is necessary. A linen closet with plenty of shelves is reached through a door in the bath room. Here may be stored the towels and bed linen needed on the floor.

Large Basement

At the foot of the stairs leading to the basement is a fruit cellar. The heating plant is conveniently located to the stairs and the fuel room is adjacent.

Space has been left for a laundry. A drain has been installed in the concrete floor of the basement.

MAKE HASTE SLOWLY IS GOOD MOTTO WHEN BUILDING: SPEED OFTEN CAUSES LOSS OF MONEY

The man who has made up his mind to build a house is confronted immediately with the problem of deciding what he wants in the way of a house. Very often the home builder starts out with a poor idea of what he needs. If he is too hasty in his decision to commence construction his efforts result in an uneconomical one.

Make haste slowly is a good motto to follow in home building. The plans of the house should be right and everything that goes into the house should be decided upon definitely before the contractor starts to work. A fuzzy idea of the family requirements inevitably results in losses of time and money.

Know Family Requirements

The home builder may think that he knows the family requirements but he must be absolutely sure on this point. He must remember that he is putting up a house that will be used by him and his family for the next fifteen or twenty years. He must cast his mind ahead and determine as best he can if the floor plans are satisfactory and will remain so. He must decide upon the home equipment with permanency in mind. He must choose an exterior design that will remain in vogue for years to come—discarding the bazaar in architectural style and selecting a type that reflects good taste and is a credit to the culture and refinement of the household.

The home must have enough room to house the present family. Yet it must not be cramped if there is a possibility that the family will be enlarged. The interior decorations must be suitable in all respects for it costs real dollars and cents to change the interior design and usually the family are paying for the house out of the income—there will be little money for changes.

A chief source of waste is caused by changes made while the house is being constructed. It is often appalling the amount of money consumed by these "extras" due to a lack of thought of what is needed. Every change in the original design costs money. These extras are not obtained under competitive bidding and consequently are often billed at a higher price.

Get these extras into the plan before the contractor bids on the job. Then you are sure to stay within the original figure.

Good Plans Necessary

It goes without saying that well-worked out plans are necessary before the bids on the construction are figured. The contractor will figure on any plans you submit, and rightfully so, yet if these plans are not complete, he is not to blame if the results are not satisfactory. He is the contractor, not the architect or designer of the house.

Home made plans are usually costly when as will be discovered the final bills are paid. This is due to the fact that the home owner is not acquainted with standard sizes of timbers, with standard dimensions of sash and doors, or indeed with economical building practices. A good contractor, working on home made sketches, will do the best he can in the interests of his customer, yet he is always hampered by incomplete ideas as to what the home builder wants and needs.

The best insurance of having the home right is to work from plans that have been drawn up by a competent architect or designer. Some contractors, and practically all first class lumber companies, have in stock plans that have been drawn up by men or organizations who are competent to do this work. It is preferable to use such a plan than one that has been drawn by the family.

Specifications are Needed. Every set of house plans should be accompanied by specifications which detail exactly what the contractor shall, and shall not do. It is wise also to have a complete bill of materials listing all of the lumber, trim, masonry, cement and other building material entering into the construction of the dwelling.

The house plans and lists of material should be so complete and explicit that there is no doubt about what goes into the house. When all this is worked out in advance, extras become unnecessary. Building operations, too, are hastened.

Building Permits Sometimes Necessary

In most cities it is necessary to obtain a building permit for which a small fee is charged. This building permit is granted after the plans and specifications have been inspected by the building department of the municipality who make certain that the building will be constructed in conformity with the zoning ordinances, the building code and the housing code.

The agreement between the home owner and the contractor usually specifies that the contractor shall obtain the necessary permits and see that the legal requirements are carried out. This expense is included in the contract price.

One Contract or Two?

The question often arises in the minds of the home builder as to whether he shall deal with one contractor who shall take the responsibility for construction the entire job, or whether contracts shall be let to several contractors.

A general contractor is in a position to bid on the whole job, including the lighting, plumbing, heating, and decorating. Often the prospective home owner believes that he is competent to supervise the building operations and desires to let separate contracts for each of the various elements that enter into the building.

This is usually an unsatisfactory method of doing business for the responsibility is divided. The heating contractor, for instance, may do a poor job and blame it on the building contractor or the plasterer.

(1) The scene of the opera should be laid in Spain, not Holland. (2) "Carmen" is not a Wagnerian opera, but is Bizet. (3) The handle of the woman's cigarette should be at the side, and not between the glasses. (4) When the opera is on, the man at the right would not be waiting for the overture, as it precedes the rising of the curtain. (5) The scrambled word is SHRELL.

Famous Jockey And Two Friends Killed When Auto Crashed

Troy, Ill., May 19—(UP)—An inquest was ordered today into the death of three men from the Fairmount Jockey Club, instantly killed early yesterday when the automobile in which they were returning from a dance crashed into a concrete culvert on the highway near here.

Traveling at an estimated speed of 60 miles an hour, the machine burst into flames, and the bodies of the three men were burned almost beyond recognition.

The dead are James Shelton, 22, of Mattoon, Ill., widely known jockey; Randall Smallwood, 39, Washington, D. C., former jockey and agent for the G. B. Bryson stable; and James Eaton, 24, of Louisville, Ky., former jockey.

Listed as one of the leading jockeys for 1929, Shelton rode J. L. Pontius' Michigan Boy to victory in the Louisiana Derby at New Orleans, March 28.

To encourage the use of tractors on farms the Polish government is rebating 75 per cent of the import duty paid by the purchasers of machines.

The Husband Hunter

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

NATALIE CONVERSE tries to conquer her jealousy for her husband, ALAN. But they quarrel over BEHNADINE LAMONT, a night club hostess, who asks him to look after Bobby, whose father had saved Alan's life during the war. Alan seeks sympathy from his secretary, PHILIPPA WEST, who successfully schemes to arouse Natalie's suspicions, and one day Alan finds her gone. Wounded pride prevents either from seeking a reconciliation, and Alan turns to Philippha, who plays her part cleverly.

Natalie regrets her hasty action, but does not write Alan, hoping he will beg her to return. Her silence spurs him on with Philippha, who helps make him feel neglected and abused. Fearing that he does not mean to promise marriage, Philippha tells Alan that she confesses to more than friendship for her, and they become engaged. Confronting her family with the news, her father becomes enraged, and Philippha plans to leave home.

Natalie, unhappy and repentant, writes Alan that she is returning to their home, without, however, mentioning a reconciliation. A mother leaves Alan, humiliated, but baffled as to Natalie's intentions. Philippha, fearful of losing Alan, tells him she is obliged to leave home because of trouble with her father.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVII

ALAN'S hand shook as he laid the telegram he had just read on his desk and looked up at Philippha. "I'm afraid I can't go with you," he said simply.

Philippha almost lost her role of meekness. "Why?" she said fiercely, sensing that a third person had interfered through the telegram. Then, instantly: "Why can't you?" she asked more submissively.

"I'm to meet Natalie at the Grand Central at five o'clock."

Philippha's face went chalk white.

"You're going to meet her?" she asked, and the words were more hissed than spoken.

Alan nodded.

"Alan!"

Philippha waited his name, and sank into a chair, her head on her arms, her shoulders shaking pitifully.

Alan's heart was torn. God, what a mess he was making of things! Here was this girl, who had given him unstintingly of her sympathy and company, and was now about to be kicked out of her home.

What kind of beast did she have for a father anyway? Here she was sobbing her heart out on his account, and he planning to meet Natalie.

But he didn't see how he could help it. Unless, unless he didn't meet Natalie. He glanced down at Philippha, went to her and put his hands on her shoulders. Philippha leaned against him.

He knew he was going to meet Natalie, but he was terribly sorry for Philippha. Yet, as he told her while she grew calmer, it dawned upon him that she might be suffering from nerves more than anything else. What had she to cry over in the fact of his meeting Natalie? It was a natural thing for Natalie to write him. She wouldn't want to ask a friend to be at the station. So far as he knew, their separation was still a matter of speculation only among their acquaintances.

And Natalie was the kind of woman who would want to do things up decently, once she was out from under the power of her jealousy. She had a fine, orderly mind.

Thinking of Natalie, he forgot he was comforting Philippha, until he felt her hand creep into his, and snuggle there contentedly. Instantly the warm glow at his heart faded. No, it probably wouldn't work out, being friends with his former wife when—the thought came hesitatingly—he was married to Philippha.

Philippha sensed he was in a mood that she could turn to her account. A bit of guilt, a bit of pity for her, a bit of longing for Natalie, a bit of desire to do the right thing for both of them.

"When shall I look for an apartment?" she stammered, as though speaking were difficult for her. She knew that Alan wouldn't think of any cheap rental districts.

"You'll want something nice," he said, and felt ever so much better, it being the instinct of all gallant men to pay when they make a woman suffer.

"I've looked at ads," Philippha confided. "The nice places all seem to be dreadfully high."

"Yes, yes, I expect so," Alan agreed impatiently. He had been thinking in very large sums indeed when she entered the room; it irritated him to have to bother with the small detail of apartment rental.

Philippha secretly gloated over his evident impatience. "But, Alan, I can't afford anything more than fifty dollars a month. I'll still have to give mother money."

As she expected, he argued that she would have to let him increase her salary. She would have much preferred to have him agree to pay the rent outright. It would have made it so much clearer that it was he who was paying the rent—in case she should wish to make that point clear.

But at least she had gained her chief point. She would be living alone, away from her parents. The inference would be—to a jealous wife's mind—that Alan had wanted it so.

And with a place where she could entertain Alan, she would have greater power over him. Having thought it all out before she came in, she realized that Alan might, if he wished to, use the fact that they always had to go somewhere to be together as an excuse to stay away from her. That is if he wanted to be with Natalie. And Philippha foresaw he might want to be with his wife.

It might be merely expediency that would bring them together at first; but Philippha was certain that Alan cared too much for Natalie to keep away from her. If not, then why wasn't he more affectionate with her? No, even if she hadn't known about Natalie, she could have guessed that there was another woman holding him back.

Let him claim wealthiness now, and she could offer him a resting place. Let him say he needed more sleep, and she could coax him to take a nap. She would fairly smother him with attentions. Cushions just as a match lighted for him whenever he wanted a cigarette, newspapers and a good reading lamp—even slippers. She made a mental note to buy him a pair on her first shopping trip after she found an apartment.

She thanked him for the promised increase in her salary and left. She hadn't dared try to stop him from going to meet Natalie. Her tears had failed. He had comforted her, yes—she could still feel his hands upon her shoulders—but he had said not one word to indicate that his decision was changed.

While weeping there at his desk, she had controlled herself enough to know that if he could not be softened by her tears, he would never weaken to stormy pleading. And Philippha was too aroused to plead otherwise. Fortunately for her, she knew it.

Suppose she made a scene? What good would it do her? It was only when the man loved and the woman didn't, that she held the winning tricks. Then she could threaten to break with him. But even that could be overdone. Philippha said to herself, thinking of Natalie's many threats to leave Alan.

One thing was clear to Philippha—if ever Alan got away from her, it would be the end.

She decided to hold him on a flexible string. He might even think, at times, that he was entirely free. This afternoon, for instance, when he met Natalie. What would they do? Make a dinner date?

Well, by that time she would have an apartment. She would take almost anything, come back before Alan left the office, and make him promise to go with her that night to look at it. He might dine with Natalie—although she would try to prevent it—but he could not remain late with her.

PHILIPPHA left the office as soon as Alan had gone out with his friends, Mr. Royden and Mr. Adams, to meet Mr. Payne. She was back at four, with a receipt for a deposit on an apartment in East Fifty-sixth Street.

As Flames Swept Through Nashua, N. H.

Daily Health Talk

SPRING TONIC

By Gilbert Harrison, Director
Bureau of Public Health Education, Oklahoma.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1351 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

This is the time of year when bottles are brought out and shaken, and Johnnie keep out of sight of his mother because he knows "spring tonic" time has arrived. A tradition has been handed down from the Garden of Eden that Eve gave Cain Abel the equivalent of sulphur and molasses, and whatever may have been the effect on these first children, the practice has come down to this year of our civilization. Makers of patent medicines have gleefully capitalized the belief that children should be given medicine to cleanse the blood in the spring and their medicines for this purpose are legion, for they bring a large percent of profit to the makers. Their beneficial results to the unfortunate victim are nil.

Children do need tonics in the spring. They need tonics in the winter, summer and fall as well. But the kind of tonic they need is not found in bottles. No medicine dispensed by man can equal the tonics bestowed by nature with a lavish hand—sunshine, fresh air, fruit, fresh vegetables, and such foods as milk and eggs. No tonic devised by man will cleanse the blood like these.

The belief that a tonic is needed in the spring comes from Johnnie's behavior at this time. He is restless and moody, can't keep his mind on his school work; has a faraway look in his eyes and is as restless as a dog looking for a place to sleep. In some cases the symptoms are worse. Some children who have had little fresh food, only a small amount of outdoor exercise, and no fresh air in their sleeping rooms, are pale and sickly like plants deprived of sunshine and moisture. They droop and have no vitality because they have been denied essential forms of health builders.

By all means give your children spring tonics, but let them be sunshine, outdoor exercise, fresh fruit and vegetables not the so-called tonic mixtures. If your children look as if they needed medicine, have them examined by a reputable physician. If their living conditions the healthful, children should flourish like the young of other animals. If they fail to do so something must be wrong and a competent physician will locate the trouble and correct it if it is in the power of man to do so. Make spring tonic season the time to start fresh on the road to health, thus using an ancient tradition to the best advantage.

to notice the Illinois Central passenger running behind it. Glen McEraty, 26, of Lerna, and Kathryn Brosnahan, 17, of Mattoon, passengers in McMahon's car were killed. McMahon and Aileen Penn Mattoon, the other passenger, were slightly injured.

Chicago—A new "loop" to be built as an air right development over Illinois central tracks along Lake Michigan, north of Grant Park and east of Michigan Avenue, is being planned according to the Tribune. Samuel Insull, the Bancamerica-Blair corporation and Field, Glor and Co. are named as the sponsors.

Evanston—Bartow A. Ulrich, 90 who was a friend of Abraham Lincoln and the oldest alumnus of the University of Michigan is dead. He first met Lincoln at Springfield, Ill. when he was seven years old.

Chicago—The bombing of the home of Mrs. Elva Holmes, neeess on the border of the south side negro belt, was laid by police to race animosity. The building was slightly damaged. No one was hurt.

Chicago—A short time after policemen had dragged him from the path of a street car, Fred H. Holynek leaped to his death from a seventh floor window of police headquarters.

Chicago—Information that gunmen had been imported from the east to take a hand in the internal troubles of the Hip Sing tong, Chinese secret society, led to police raids in which 44 Chinese were arrested.

U. S.-MEXICO TREATY

On May 19, 1848, after a war between the United States and Mexico arising from a dispute over the boundary of Texas, a treaty of peace was ratified between the nations.

By terms of the treaty Mexico was forced to cede to the United States territory of Upper California and New Mexico, for which, moved by the pressure of public opinion, this country agreed to pay $15,000,000. The treaty made the Rio Grande the western boundary of Texas and the Gila river the northern boundary of Mexico. The Mexicans tried without success to secure a pledge from the United States to keep slavery out of the ceded territory.

The Mexican land cession included Utah, Nevada and parts of Arizona, Colorado and Wyoming. Adding Texas, this region formed the broad belt extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific and having an area of more than 850,000 square miles, or more than the entire American republic possessed at the close of the Revolutionary War.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

WHY WEAR A POPPY?

The first significance of the poppy is to honor the war dead. We wear the poppy once a year to express the feeling of reverence that is always in our hearts for the men who died on the poppy covered fields of France and Belgium during the World War. The poppy is their flower.

Second, we wear the poppy to help lighten the burden for those who are still undergoing suffering and hardships because of the war. Making the poppies gives an employment to hundreds of disabled veterans who otherwise would be able to contribute nothing to the support of themselves or their families. The dimes, quarters and dollars dropped into the contribution boxes on poppy day form the largest source of income for the rehabilitation and child welfare work of the Legion and Auxiliary.

The wearing of the poppy is the individual act of tribute to the war dead, it is something we can all do.

There is a real American democracy about the poppy, it is worn by the rich and the poor alike. The wearer "Honor the Dead and Serve the Living."

The burden of relief work which the Legion and Auxiliary are called upon to carry is becoming heavier each year, as more and more the Veterans are taken from the ranks of wage earners by the disabilities of war. At this late date it is exceedingly difficult to secure government aid for these men who break down from results of their war service.

When we observe Memorial Day this year it will be nearly twelve years since the signing of the Armistice, we have not forgotten those great victories, and the gallant men who died to make them possible. On Memorial Day we will hang out our flags, deck their graves with flowers and wear poppies on our coats in their honor. Oh, you who sleep in Flanders fields Sleep sweet—to rise anew We caught the torch you threw And holding high, we keep the Faith With all who died.

We cherish, too, the poppy red, That grows on fields whose valor led. It seems to signal to the skies That blood of horrors never dies, But ends a luster to the red Of flowers that bloom above the dead.

In Flanders fields.

Canadian Distiller Is Chicago Hoodlum

Chicago, May 17—(AP)—Hitherto uncut pages in the life story of Frank J. Parker were slit open yesterday by Canadian customs officials.

In Chicago, Parker was in the police record as a petty hoodlum, confidence man, automobile thief, burglar, e-convict and well-to-do aviator-bootegger.

His name even came into the investigation of the St. Valentine's Day massacre of seven George (Bugs) Moran gangsters.

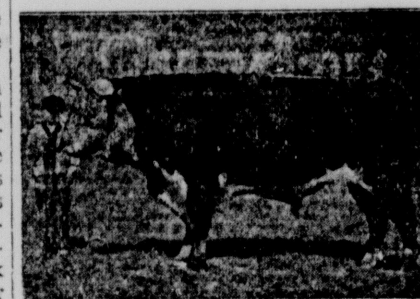

In Montreal, Canada, there was another Frank J. Parker, president of the Dominion Distilleries, Ltd., known as a shrewd businessman and a leading citizen.

Yesterday, P. A. Martineau, Canadian customs official, identified the two as the same through photographs and fingerprints.
